Dubber Signs Agreement with AT&T

Dubber Corporation Limited (ASX: DUB) is pleased to announce that it has been selected by AT&T Corp (“AT&T”) to provide its cloud call and communication capture solution for the AT&T Collaborate service.

AT&T Collaborate is a hosted voice service that integrates voice, video, web and messaging. Launched in 2016, AT&T Collaborate provides a comprehensive Unified Communication (UC) solution for Business, Enterprise and Government customers across the United States, and is helping these organisations move their communication services to the cloud.

The agreement will see Dubber’s full range of call recording, data capture and speech analytics services made available to AT&T Collaborate customers with AT&T being the first telecommunications company delivering call recording via the Dubber Connect solution. The service is scheduled to go live within this quarter.

Steve McGovern, CEO, Dubber:

“We are very proud to be working with AT&T to provide the cloud call recording solution for their Collaborate Unified Communication service. As one of the world’s largest telecommunications companies, we believe this agreement signals a very significant milestone for Dubber and our cloud based call recording platform.”

Dubber’s unique Platform-as-a-Service (PaaS) has been subject to extensive performance testing demonstrating its ability to scale and that it can support AT&T’s exacting call recording requirements well into the future.

The agreement furthers Dubber’s ambition to provide a global backbone for recording.

Dubber Connect is provided as a Software-as-a-Service (SaaS), enabling AT&T Collaborate users to subscribe directly with Dubber for call recording and speech intelligence services with the amount of revenue generated dependent on customer take up of the service.

The Company believes the AT&T Agreement has the potential to bring a much broader base of customers on to the Company’s platform. Prior to the service going live, Dubber is unable to provide any indication of the likely take up of the service. Dubber intends to update the market regarding the service launch and subsequent achievement of material customer numbers in due course. In the interim, we believe this Agreement represents an important validation of the Dubber Connect platform, and are pleased to announce it to the market.
